

STAR Survey for Issue 2.3: Communication is More Than Making Requests

Watch the STAR video at www.ctecaac.org/star

Communications systems often emphasize making requests for favorite things. S.T.A.R.S remember to support vocabulary for asking questions, making comments or protesting, and words that are relevant to the AAC user's life and interesting to communication partners.

Please be sure to leave us feedback on this video and the entire STAR Training series.

1. What are different types of words or messages, other than requests, that an individual should have available on their system?

- Social etiquette, questions, sharing information
- Comments, protests, greetings
- Both of the above answers are correct.

2. When could you use a pre-stored whole message?

- when you need to speed up communication,
- when it is something you say frequently,
- when you are interviewing someone
- all of the above

3. When would you use single words and phrases?

- when you are using word by word message construction
- when you are not capable of using more than that
- When you are unable to spell

* 4. I feel this video was... (Check all that apply)

- | | |
|--|---|
| <input type="checkbox"/> Helpful! I learned something new! | <input type="checkbox"/> Bad. This information was NOT helpful. |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Awesome! I will use this information right away. | <input type="checkbox"/> Disappointing. I do not agree with the information in this video. |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Insightful. This information was applicable to someone I know | <input type="checkbox"/> Interesting. The video contained information that was interesting but not applicable to anyone I know. |

5. Here is a place to provide feedback on this S.T.A.R. video.